A New Competitor for Musical Powers.

From the Washington Republican. We observe by the recent English papers that Miss — Sterling, an American young lady, who has been pursuing her musical studies abroad for some time, has recently appeared in oratoric in some of the principal cities of Great Britain, and met with unprecedented success in the execution of the most difficult soles in Handel's great composi-tion of "The Messiah." The colored Convention now in session here is well worth attending. It is a dig-

From this it will be seen that in contemplation of the reconstructed Constitution proposed for Virginia it is intended that the State shall be officered alone by the lest-oath men. In real-onstructed companies and a victim drops a corpse, and the secret, a flash from a revolver, and a victim drops a corpse, and then seemes, though with no success, to have sought to miligate the fercotom temper of the Convention, addressed to Gen.
